1 Sherman Building
Once home to an elementary school, the Sherman Administration Building now houses the Alumni Association, Community Relations, Human Resources, the NIC Foundation, the President’s Office, and Communications and Marketing.

2 Molstead Library
The Molstead Library provides learning resources and a large library collection for students and community members. The upper level includes a computer center for students as well as classrooms for the University of Idaho. A historic mural of the region’s history hangs in the library lobby.

3 Boswell Hall
Boswell Hall features the Communications, Fine Arts, and Humanities division as well as Schuler Performing Arts Center with seating for nearly 1,200. The building is home to voice and instrumental studies, the Corner Gallery, a photography lab, art labs, and other general classrooms. The building is named in honor of long-time communications instructor Earlene Boswell.

4 Hedlund Building
The Hedlund Building is home to many of the college’s Professional-Technical programs. Emer’s Restaurant is the Culinary Arts lab and is located on the second floor and is open to the public from October through April. The Student Support Services Office can assist individuals looking for learning opportunities in career-related programs.

5 Siebert Building
The Siebert Building is home to the nationally-acclaimed Sentinel student newspaper. The Center for New Directions is also here with staff that provides assistance with career and educational counseling, job hunting, and personal counseling.

6 McLain Hall
The Flexible Learning Center located here provides computer application training in a self-paced learning lab. Other courses in business technology are also offered here.

7 NIC Beach
The college’s jewel is its expansive beach that includes the shores of the Spokane River and Lake Coeur d’Alene. Here you’ll find a hub of excitement and activity throughout the summer. The Sunspot includes a concession stand as well as rentals of canoes, kayaks, sailboats, and volleyballs.

8 Seiter Hall
Seiter Hall, remodeled in 2010, is home to math, computer science, engineering, geology, geography, and physics courses. The Center for Educational Access provides assistance for students with disabilities.

9 Lee-Kildow Hall
The Admissions Office, Financial Aid Office, Registrar’s Office, and Student Accounts Office are all located here. You’ll also find the College Skills Center which offers free peer tutoring and Student Support Services, a federal TRIO program to help students succeed. The Lee Hall Annex located behind the building houses the Modern Languages Lab and the Writing Center.

10 Lakeside Children’s Center
The Children’s Center is a childcare center for children of faculty, staff, and students. It also serves as a hands-on lab for Elementary Education and Childhood Development students.

11 Christianson Gymnasium
Named after Perry Christianson, a former NIC instructor, coach, and president, the gym houses the Rolly Williams basketball/volleyball court and the NIC Athletics Hall of Fame. The gym is also home to coaches offices, the wrestling practice room, and the athletic training room.

12 Edminster Student Union (SUB)
The Edminster Student Union Building (SUB) is a great place to relax with comfortable lounges, big screen TV’s, ping pong tables, billiard tables, computers, a fireplace, and dining facility. The main floor is also home to the Mica Peak Exchange Bookstore. Several student support services are located on the upper level including Advising Services, Counseling, Health Services, Career Services, and the Associated Students of North Idaho College student government offices. The Activity Center, Recreational Sports, and Outdoor Pursuits offices are located on the lower level.
